

Aventine Hill CIOs

Casey brings diverse senior leadership experience in business and IT roles across the financial services and chemicals/refining industries. He has driven large scale business process improvements, global & local scale system implementations, merger & acquisition IT integration, and divestiture transition.

During his 13 years at Lyondell Chemical and LyondellBasell, Casey led ERP implementations and consolidations with a deep focus on finance, accounting, and shared services functions. He drove business and IT change during periods of organic growth, mergers that doubled company size, and challenging economic conditions including a chapter 11 bankruptcy restructuring. During his 13 years at American General he led business and systems improvements in accounting, customer service, and operations. Casey earned a MBA in Finance and a BBA in Management Information Systems from the University of Houston.

Casey helps clients that require leveraging change from IT or within IT. He brings the knowledge and abilities of a business and financially oriented IT executive whether resolving complex business issues, developing IT strategy, or taking the reigns as the interim CIO.

For Aventine Hill Partners' clients, Casey has:

- Developed a three year strategic roadmap for a mature $500+ million manufacturer
- Defined the IT strategy for a less than 2 year old midstream company with a high growth strategy
- Assessed an aging ERP system and defined a roadmap for a growing oilfield services company
